We are a young team of three graduate conservators, specially trained in the conservation of technical objects of cultural value and experienced in working with modern materials. We have all acquired a thorough, practically-oriented academic education and have each gained a qualification in a trade, working with wood or metal.

TriKonBerlin provides comprehensive consultation on the treatment of technical objects and modern materials, as well as on documenting, preserving and conserving them. We use exclusively non-ageing materials of the highest quality and provide detailed, comprehensible documentation of each stage of the work for our clients.
